

Social and Personal

THE Governor of Virginia and Mrs. Mann have been invited by President and Mrs. Taft to a dinner given at the White House on the evening of Thursday, December 15. They will leave Thursday morning of next week, and probably spend several days in Washington before returning to Richmond.

Mrs. Harwood Entertained.
Mrs. Richard Henry Harwood, of 2209 Monument Avenue, entertained at a large afternoon reception yesterday from 4 to 6 o'clock, in compliance to her guest, Miss Irma Graham, of Eastern Shore, Maryland. Palms and ferns formed an effective background for the receiving party, and in the dining room the table was arranged with a flat oval of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The lights were shaded in rose color, and pink roses were banded on the mantel. Mrs. Harwood received with the guest of honor, and Mrs. Pelham Blackford and Mrs. William Todd, residents of Arlington. Among Mrs. Harwood in doing the honors of the occasion were Mrs. John Harwood, Mrs. John Harwood, Jr., Mrs. M. O. Culpepper, Mrs. Malvern C. Patterson, Mrs. Landonia R. Dashiell, Mrs. J. Scott Parrish, Mrs. Cunningham Hall and Mrs. Charles B. Bowers, at which Mrs. Harwood entertained the members of the younger society set and the brides and grooms of the winter, the handsome parlors and hall were beautifully decorated with great jars of American Beauty roses and hanging baskets of ferns and smilax. The dance was given in honor of Miss Camilla Wellford and Fanny Scott, two of the most entertained debutantes of the winter.

Prominent Wedding.
The wedding of Miss Lucy White Hayes, daughter of Joel Addison Hayes, and George Young, which will be celebrated this evening at 9 o'clock in St. Stephen's Church, Colorado Springs, is of much interest to society here and throughout the South. Miss Hayes is a granddaughter of President Jefferson Davis, Confederate States of America, and was in Richmond at the time of the unveiling of her grandfather's monument in June of 1907, and with her mother, who accompanied her, was the guest of honor at all of the entertainments given at that time. Mrs. Hayes was formerly Miss Davis. She was an exceedingly pretty woman and was much admired in Southern society during her early girlhood.

In Honor of Mrs. Mann.

One of the handsomest entertainments of the month was the reception given yesterday afternoon, from 4 to 7, by Mrs. J. Taylor Ellyson and Mrs. Frank T. Crump in honor of Mrs. William Hodges Mann.

House decorations in palms and American Beauty roses made a specially artistic effect in halls and parlors. In the dining room the mantle was banded with Holly and running cedar, and the center of the table a beautiful shower of crimson carnations carried out the color scheme of red and green. Red shaded candles and poinsettia blossoms made an additional color finish.

Mrs. Ellyson wore pale gray chiffon cloth gown, with silver embroidery and pearls. She welcomed her guests in the front drawing room. Beside her stood Mrs. Mann, gowned in silver brocade and holding an armful of American Beauties. Mrs. Frank Crump wore white satin, with gold embroidery. The receiving line was kept pleasantly busy during the entire afternoon as Richmond society en masse called and paused for a word with the wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, her daughter and their guest of honor, the wife of the Governor of Virginia.

Mrs. Ellyson's reception was one of the largest and most important entertainments that has been given in a season that has already been marked as unusual by reason of the elegance and number of its social functions.

Luncheon for Miss Wortham.

Miss Lucy F. Wortham, who has been spending some time in Norfolk as the house guest of Miss Louie Johnston, was the guest of honor at a beautiful luncheon given last Monday at the Country Club, of which Miss Frances Mayer, of that city was hostess. The decorations for the table consisted of a large centerpiece of lilies of the valley and crimson roses, and the lights were shaded in crimson and silver.

Miss Mayer's guests included: Miss Wortham, Miss Louie Johnston, Miss Florence Kinney, of Charlottesville; Miss Elizabeth Yoell, of Danville; Miss Berle Payne, Miss May Nottingham, Miss Virginia Cooke and Miss Josephine Wrenn. Miss Wortham returned to Richmond Tuesday afternoon.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Boshier.

Dr. Lyman R. Abbott and his daughter, Miss Abbott, of New York, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Boshier, at 103 North Sixth Street, during their stay in this city. Dr. Abbott and his daughter accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Boshier to Richmond from Williamsburg, where he made an address at the William and Mary College. They will probably leave Richmond for New York Friday morning.

Long-Burgwyn.

The Church of the Savior, Jackson, N. C., was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Minnie Greenough, Burghyn, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Pollock Burgwyn, was married to Dr. Thomas Mason Long, of Roanoke Rapids, N. C., son of the late Major L. M. Long, of Northampton county, N. C. The church was decorated in palms and evergreens and the altar was banded with white tulle. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. T. Picard. Miss Ruth Long sang the bridal hymn, "O Perfect Love," just before the entry of the wedding party. Miss Mattie C. Hunter, of Portsmouth, played the wedding marches.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Henry King Burgwyn, who gave her away. Her gown was of white crepe meteor trimmed in Duchess lace and embroidered in pearls and her tulle veil was arranged with lilies. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies.

Miss Cornelia Coleman, of Macon, Ga., was maid of honor, and wore a frock of pale green crepe de chine, trimmed in Persian embroidery, and carried a bouquet of maidenhair ferns tied with white tulle. The bridesmaids were Misses Ellen Lewis, Anna Clara and Nan Scott, of Scotland Neck, N. C.; Sallie Long, of "Long View," Virgil Glazebrook, of Lawrenceville, and Mary Hunter, of Portsmouth. They wore dainty frocks of white silk with touches of pale green on the bodice and crystal embroidery. They also carried bouquets of ferns tied with tulle. William Lunsford Long attended his brother as best man and the ushers were W. H. S. Burgwyn, Jr., Wilkins Lewis, Willie Long, of "Long View"; Dr. H. C. Erwin, of Roanoke Rapids, N. C.; Dr. G. H. Reese and Mr. Hartwell, of Petersburg. Master George Pollock Burgwyn, Jr., and little Miss Emily Roper Burgwyn, niece and nephew of the bride, held the ribbons.

A reception at the home of the bride, "The Elms," followed the ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. Long left on a special train for a wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Long will be at home after January 1 in Roanoke Rapids, N. C. Among the ante-nuptial entertainments given for the bride party was a very handsome german last Tuesday evening.

Guests from a distance included Colonel and Mrs. W. H. S. Burgwyn, of Weldon, N. C.; C. B. Burgwyn, of Dr. Harry B. Baker, of Richmond; Misses Mary and Nan Roper, Bartlett Roper, Jr., Miss Rosa Heath, all of Petersburg; Mrs. J. T. Gooch, Miss Lizzie Hill, of Weldon, N. C.; Judge T. W. Mason, L. M. Long, Jr., Reginald Joyner, of "Long View," N. C.; Miss Mary Phillips, of Butlerboro, N. C.; Mrs. N. B. Rialley, of Portsmouth; Miss Lucella McLean, of Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Brokenborough, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Appandannock, Va.; Mrs. H. Stuart Lewis, of Suffolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair Butler and Miss Mary Butler have moved to their home, "Poplar Grove," Mathews county, where they expect to spend this winter.

Mrs. Fannie Ansell, of Ohio, who has been visiting in Staunton, is now the guest of friends in this city.

Miss Theresie Nurney, who has been in town for the past week, will leave for Suffolk Saturday afternoon.

Howard Staples, of this city, is spending some time with friends in Spotsylvania county.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Robertson have returned to the city, after traveling in Texas and Florida.

Mrs. Bransford, who has been visiting in Richmond for a few days, has returned to Shirley, on the James.

Mrs. Barton Grundy is the guest of Mrs. George T. Marye at her home in Washington.

Dr. Charles H. Ambler, of Randolph-Mason College, will spend part of the coming holidays in Washington.

Mrs. Fleming Christian has returned to her home in Norfolk, after spending several weeks with friends in Richmond.

Stuart-Meade.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Winchester, Va., December 7.—Instead of continuing on to Charlottesville to visit friends, as intended when she left home at White Post, Clarke county, Miss Vivian C. Meade, daughter of the late Edgar Snowden Meade, changed her mind when James E. Stuart, also of White Post, met her in Washington, and they were married Tuesday by Rev. Charles T. Warner. Both are members of prominent Clarke county families, the bride being a lineal descendant of Bishop Meade, an eminent Episcopal prelate.

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS.

North Carolina Tribunal Acts on Fourteen Appeals.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Raleigh, N. C., December 7.—There were fourteen appeals disposed of in the list of opinions delivered this week by the North Carolina Supreme Court, the list being as follows:

Directors Elected.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Salisbury, N. C., December 7.—The first meeting of the incorporators of the Salisbury Railroad Company was held yesterday afternoon at the home of W. H. Miller, L. Dunker, T. H. Vanderford, J. D. Norwood, M. L. Jackson, W. H. Ragland, N. E. McCaskey, J. Jerome, J. G. Busby and J. K. Dorsett. The purpose of the company, it is said, is to build a line from Salisbury to Whitney or some other point on the line of the Winston-Salem Southbound Railroad, which has just been completed.

Injured by Explosion.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Spencer, N. C., December 7.—Comadore Hines, of Salisbury, was badly hurt in the Spencer shops of the Southern Railway yesterday afternoon by the premature explosion of a dynamite charge used to blow out large bolts from locomotive boilers. A flying missile struck Hines' leg in the leg, making an ugly wound. So far as is known this was the first accident to result from the use of dynamite in blowing out thousands of bolts in the shops here.

Death of Professor Schmidt.

Knoxville, Tenn., December 7.—C. D. Schmidt, professor of mathematics, twenty-three years of age, died at his home here, aged fifty-one years. He died of hemorrhage of the brain. The body will be taken to Woodstock, Va., for burial.

LINCOLN THE MOST AMBITIOUS OF MEN

He Was Not the Simple-Minded Rustic He Has Been Pictured.

AMBASSADOR REID'S ESTIMATE

Delivers Eulogy on War President Before Birmingham University.

Whitelaw Reid on Lincoln

I place him far above any other of our shining lights of the makers of history in the nineteenth century—far above Blumack, far above Gambetta or Mazzini, or the Marquis de Lafayette.

Though personally modest and sensitive, he was from his earliest manhood a persistent office-seeker, and the most ambitious of men.

He was an ardent partisan and the most skillful master of men and of all the intricacies in the game of politics known in his State.

He was not perpetually telling humorous and sometimes risqué stories in the White House. For every one he did tell a hundred poorer and coarser ones have been fathered on him.

At the most critical period of his life he was the victim of such melancholy that his friends feared for his reason. Always when not in animated conversation he was the most melancholy-looking of men.

To regard this highest and saddest statesman of the century as a mere professional worker of cap and heels is the last indignity befalling his blood-curdled laurels.

He knew his Bible better than any other book. He was never a member of any church.

Birmingham, Eng., December 7.—The American ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, today delivered an address before Birmingham University on Abraham Lincoln, closing the course which has been in progress on "The Makers of History in the Nineteenth Century."

Mr. Reid spoke from personal acquaintance and close familiarity with the career of the great American statesman. His address was notable in clearing away many of the popular misapprehensions concerning Lincoln.

Mr. Reid referred to the emancipator as not in the least a simple-minded rustic or a professional reformer, but, on the contrary, an ardent partisan and a master hand in the intricacies of the game of politics. Although personally modest and sensitive, Lincoln was pictured as being from his earliest manhood a persistent office-seeker and the most ambitious of men.

Mr. Reid dwelt upon Lincoln's abilities as a story-teller, maintaining that with all his wit and humor he was not perpetually telling humorous and sometimes risqué stories in the White House. The ambassador said that for every story told by Lincoln while President, a hundred poorer and coarser stories have been fathered on him. Mr. Reid said that this sacred name of Lincoln should not be taken as a convenient decoration for some popular humorist or jocosmith by trade; so to regard him was "the last indignity from the sentimental school, which he distrusted in life and which thus belittled his blood-earned laurels."

Mr. Reid traced the career of Lincoln from his earliest pioneer days and dwelt at length upon the final stages of his career during and at the conclusion of the Civil War. He summed up his estimate as follows:

"You have rightly selected him as the chief American maker of history in the nineteenth century. The world long ago chose another as our chief maker of history for the eighteenth century. I venture to think George Washington and Abraham Lincoln not inferior to any one of the race born in these centuries, under any skies—nay, more, I venture to think that in the whole long and glorious history of that race, while its history was ours as well as yours, they have never been surpassed."

CONTEST IS ON FOR COMMITTEE PLACES

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, December 7.—The recent deaths of Senators Daniel, of Virginia; McNary, of Louisiana; and Clay, of Georgia, has started a nice little contest in the Senate among the Democrats for their committee places.

Two minority places on the powerful appropriations committee and one on the finance committee are regarded as the most desirable. Senators Daniel and Clay were members of the appropriations committee and Senator Daniel was on finance.

Senator Martin, of Virginia, one of the oldest in point of service of the Democratic Senators, likely will get one of the vacancies. Senators Clarke, of Arkansas; Overman, of North Carolina; and Stone, of Missouri, are mentioned in connection with the others. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, is a member of the finance committee, and there is a possibility that he may land on appropriations. Although one of the newer members of the Senate, Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, is highly thought of and may get one of the places. All three of the late Senators held minority chairmanships, and their successors are likely to be chosen when the slate of minority committee assignments is made.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, is usually chosen by seniority. It is likely that Senator Stone will become chairman of the committee on transportation and sale of meat products to succeed Senator McNary; Senator Johnson will advance to the head of the committee on Indian affairs; and Senator Clay woman's suffrage, and Senator Clay Senator Johnson will be appointed chairman of the committee on private land claims, to succeed Senator Daniel.
